The Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON

NO DUKE CHURCHILL

When Winston Churchill turned down a knighthood this week, his son, Randolph Churchill, probably heaved a big sigh of relief.

For it meant that his father, in turning down this lesser honor, probably would not accept a dukedom or any other high reward. Should the elder Churchill accept a peerage, he would move into the House of Lords, which would mean that his son, Randolph, upon his father's death, automatically would become a lord, thereby forfeiting the chance of a fighting political career as a commoner.

To inherit a title is the last thing young Churchill wants. His future career lies in the House of Commons, like his father.

Knowing his son's ambition, the prime minister used to hold a sword of Damocles over Randolph's head. When the mercurial Randolph got out of hand, his father half-jokingly would warn: "Tut, tut. Be careful or I'll take a peerage."

BATTLE OVER STEEL

One of the hottest fights in the whole hot history of the War Production board has been raging backstage regarding the future allocation of steel to industry.

It is a fight affecting almost every business in the country — large and small — and if the big industry boys get their way, civilian manufacturers will get less material even than during the third quarter of this year, when we were still fighting a two-front war.

The fight is over how sheet steel shall be allocated.

Basically, this boils down to whether the big automobile companies will get it all, or whether other manufacturers will be given at least a little.

It is exactly the same fight, in reverse, which occurred before Pearl Harbor. At that time, the automobile industry was using up most of the sheet steel. War production was held up until their output could be curtailed, and the auto boys pulled all sorts of wires to keep on producing cars.

Now, the same wires are being pulled to let steel be completely free, and not allocated to anyone. This is just another way of saying that the automobile companies will get it all, because they are the biggest peacetime buyers of steel and the steel companies naturally like to please their best customers.

Big Business WPB

Today, the War Production board, under chairman "Cap" Krug, is more big - business - controlled than ever, so the automobile boys may get their way.

Their fight inside WPB is being led by Vice Chairman Harold Boeschenstein, whose glass company sells headlights to auto manufacturers. He and other WPB moguls argue that the present "controlled materials plan" should be "open-ended," in other words, after a steel mill has completed its "must" government orders, it can sell whatever steel is left over to anyone it wishes.

Hitherto, farm machinery, hardware, the railroads and various war-supporting industries got definite steel allocations from the government. They were always assured some steel. Under the new proposal, however, they would have to scramble for it in competition with the automobile companies.

While the railroads, farm implement companies, et al, doubtless can look after themselves, a long list of small manufacturers also would be affected — those making hardware, electric irons, washing machines, etc. Hitherto, they have been able to get a certain amount of steel allocated to them by WPB. But under the proposed new plan, they would have to scramble for it. And in any battle with the auto companies, it is not difficult to guess where they would come out.

Actually there will be very little steel to scramble for. After war needs and war-supporting needs are met, it is estimated only about 1,000,000 tons of sheet steel will be left over. If WPB moguls have their way, however, the scramble will begin in the fourth quarter of this year.

NOTE—It will be up to new War Mobilizer John Snyder to make the final decision.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

¶ Every mother's son west of the Mississippi river — and some east — are making moves to get the cabinet job of the toughest, most fearless member of the FDR cabinet—Harold Ickes. Jim Patton of Denver, head of the farmers union, is one of them. Another is genial Gov. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, who led the switching of delegates to Truman during the Chicago convention. . . . However, "Harold the Ick" may fool 'em.

Program Enjoyed At Kiwanis Club Ladies Night

Wives of members of the Campbell Kiwanis club were in charge of ladies night Tuesday and certainly "a good time was had by all," with Mrs. W. R. Morgan presiding as chairman after Mrs. C. P. Klassen, the president's wife had conducted the opening exercises.

After the usual fun and jollity Bud Levenberg presented Miss Mary Matta, of the Blake, Moffitt and Towne office in San Jose, who played several accordion solos.

Mrs. Edna Brugman, a music major at San Jose State college was introduced by Jack Murdock and played three groups of piano numbers.

Lt. Com. C. H. Heffelfinger of the Educational department at Moffett Field was guest speaker of the evening, discussing "Navy Education".

He spoke breifly of the physical education which the navy has given, but stressed also the mental improvement. This is shown in advancement in ratings, in the educational program which has permitted the young men to complete high school courses and earn college credits; and the use of college correspondence courses for which the government pays half of the fees.

Another object of the navy educational system is trying to orient the boys, for all of whom an entirely new life required complete change in their points of view.

In speaking of the wonderful successes of all of our armed forces he gave credit to the good homes from which so many had come, and especially to the public schools, and finally to the constant repetition of the ideals of our country and deeper understanding of its history and that of other nations.

The main purpose of his talk was to impress the fact that the boys are coming back with a world point of view and it is a must for us at home to learn to live in the "world" and not in a community, a state or even our United States. That we must study and learn all we can of every country of the globe in order to live in the world.

The program was closed with a group of vocal solos by Miss Ruth Cousins accompanied by Mrs. Brugman.

Guests introduced were Messrs and Mesdames Ernest Smith, Wilbur Mitchell, Roy Archibald, Herman Busack, Floyd Bohnett, Mrs. Byron Lanphear, Mrs. Margaret Murdock, Mrs. Ada Hart, Mrs. Edna Smith, 2d Lt. and Mrs. Philip Farley, Capt. and Mrs. Harold Cramer and Rev. Robert Carlson.

Next week Dr. William Henry of Saratoga will be the speaker and describe the "Skyline Rehabilitation Sanitarium. Fred Jones will officiate as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Knowles Barbara Knowles Hartman and children motored to Petaluma Tuesday where Mr. Knowles Sr. transacted poultry business, and then the party stopped in Vallejo for a visit with relatives.

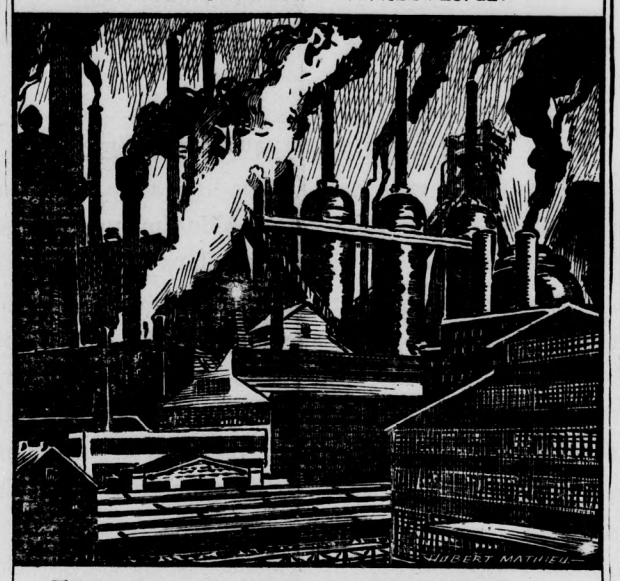
OUR DEMOCRACY——by Mat

PRODUCTIVE POWER

AMERICA AT WAR HAS DEVELOPED PRODUCTION ON A SCALE NEVER BEFORE ATTAINED BY ANY NATION. THAT ACHIEVEMENT RESTS NOT ALONE ON PHYSICAL RESOURCES, BUT ON THE SKILLS, THE INITIATIVE AND SELF-RELIANCE THAT ARE THE HERITAGE OF A FREE PEOPLE.



THESE SAME QUALITIES OF OUR PEOPLE ARE THE BEST ASSURANCE OF OUR ABILITY TO EXPAND OUR PEACETIME MARKETS TO UTILIZE THE IMMENSE PRODUCTIVE CAPACITY WE HAVE DEVELOPED UNDER PRESSURE OF WAR. AND THE MONEY WE HAVE SET ASIDE IN WAR BONDS, LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS ACCOUNTS WILL GIVE GREATER SCOPE AND OPPORTUNITY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL AND THE NATION, IN THE ADVANCE OF OUR DYNAMIC DEMOCRACY.

The next regular meeting of the unit will be held September 12, in the Country Woman's club room. It. is hoped that all members will make a special effort to attend.

Local Man Fights Jap Suicide Planes And Typhoon

Aboard the USS Alabama in the Pacific—Buel W. Pounds, seaman, first class, USNR, whose wife, Mary, lives at 133 Sunnyside ave., Campbell, is serving aboard this battleship which in one month's time raided the Japanese mainland twice, bombarded a Jap-held island north of Okinawa and rode unscathed through a violent typhoon.

One of the raids against the Nip homeland was uneventful, but during the other operation the "Mighty A," as the man-o'-war is known to her crewmen, ran into a hornet's nest of Jap suicide pilots.

Scores of the Kamikaze planes were shot down outside the task force formation, but at least four came in close enough to be splashed by the guns of this and other ships. Alabama gunners claim credit for downing two of these planes and for assisting in destroying another.

One Kamikaze, a "Zeke"-type fighter, flew through clouds of ack-ack before singling out this ship as his target, but as he turned to make his death run his plane was hit and crashed flaming, a scant 300 yards away.

During her bombardmenot assignment, the Alabama turned loose her 5 and 16-inch guns to pulverize Jap shore installations.

The typhoon the battleship experienced pounded the 35,000-ton vessel for hours, causing her to pitch and toss heavily, but she came through undamaged.

During the past week, H. G. Schwab has enjoyed visits from his brither-in-law, John F. Anthes of Sutton, Nebr., and from his niece and her husband Mr. and Mrs. N. Becker of Santa Ana. They had not met for over thirty years.

Youth Center To Have Busy Week

The Campbell Youth Center has a busy week of activities which began Tuesday evening with a skating party at the San Jose Auditorium Roller Rink.

Wednesday evening twenty-five members enjoyed an Italian dinner in San Jose. This was in place of the one planned for last week which was called off because of the Victory celebration.

Tonight the club is at The Roost with a swimming party and besketball practice at the Woodrow Wilson Junior high school tomorrow (Friday) evening.

The major event is the Hayride party to be held Saturday evening. Admission for this affair is two red points and twenty-five cents, and only those who have made reservations and paid their fees can be taken.

Members will meet at The Roost at 8:15 p.m. and the two trucks appropriately covered with hay will leave at 8:30.

To the accompaniment of music the first itinerary will be over some of the roads leading toward Saratoga and ending at the home of "Red Wolf" Livingston about 10:15. Here an adult committee including Mr. and Mrs. Frank Livingston and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis will have the eats under way—hot dogs, salad, potato chips, pickles and cokes.

With the inner man refreshed, a second ride will be taken on roads San Josewards and returning to The Roost for dancing until 11:30.

President Larry Lewis is general chairman, and in arranging for refreshments are Marjorie Livingston, Bonnie Decker, Dona Leigh, Pat Whitmore and Katherine Ban. The committee on trucks and hay are Frank Smith, chairman, Walter Trask, Ray Flagg and Bob Knowles.

The Council now has 108 paid members.

Mrs. Edith van Rossem has taken the place of Mrs. L. D. Murray as assistant to Mrs. Joan Whitehouse Schenk in supervising the play ground for younger children. These youngsters will have another swim this (Thursday) afternoon at the Los Gatos pool from 2:30 to 4:30.

Lt. Philip Farley Home for Visit

2nd Lt. Philip J. Farley, U. S. Army, surprised his family by arriving Sunday from England from which he and the fellow members of his group had left on Thursday.

They leave on Sunday on a special mission to Japan similiar to the one on which they had been sent to England and the continent.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Farley who had been vacationing at Lake Shaver, had stopped for a visit en route home, when they received word of their son's arrival and cut their vacation short to enjoy the few days with him.

Mrs. Frank Weeks, accompanied by her son Gary, left Friday morning for Los Angeles, where she will visit relatives.

Jeanne Fischer, Mark Kennedy United August 12

On Sunday, August 12 at four o'clock in the Grace Lutheran Church in San Jose, was solemnized the wedding of Jeanne Fischer to Mark Kennedy. Mark will be remembered here as the only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kennedy, and Mr. Kennedy is in turn the youngest son of Mrs. R. W. Kennedy, while his wife is the sister of Mrs. Ralston Alison.

The church was decorated all in white, using white gladiolus and dahlies and white candles. Before the ceremony Gertrude Williams, a friend of the bride, sang "Because." The officiating minister was Rev. Roger Darling, who is associated in business with the father of the bride.

The maid of honor was Harriet Kennedy, sister of the groom, who was gowned in a period dress of white dotted Swiss, with a picture half-hat of yellow with matching veil and she carried a large flat bouquet of yellow tuberous begonias. The brides maid was Evelyn Fuller, cousin of the bride, gowned similarly to the maid of honor, but with hat and flowers in flame color.

The bride, a charming blonde, was dressed in sheer marquisette made with full sleeves and long train, her Juliette cap of crossed bands of net and pearls holding the full veil in place. She carried a white Bible, with white butterfly orchids and shower of bouvardia. She came in on the arme of her father, Clyde L. Fischer, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, William Alexander. Jack Fischer, brother of the bride, and Lt. William Diffenbaugh served as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore ivory silk with black accessories, while the mother of the groom wore navy blue with matching accessories. Both wore orchids, the gift of the groom.

About three hundred people attended the wedding, and a large number of these went on to the reception at the home of Major and Mrs. Elmer Jensen on Crest Drive. The reception was held in the spacious Spanish type house and patio.

Mark has been recently placed on reserve duty, following his active duty in the Italian theater of operations as bombardier. He was commissioned as first lieutenant and won several distinctions. His bride was a student at San Jose State college. After a short honeymoon, they will live in Gilroy where Mark is associated in business with his father in a lumber company.

Mrs. Byron Lanphear is here with her late husband's parents, the E. E. Lanphears, and may decide to remain in Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bohnett and son, 1st Lt. Newell Bohnett, marine aviator, of Santa Barbara arrived the first of the week for a visit with relatives and friends. Floyd is current president of the Rotary club of the southern city where he manufactures exclusive furniture and ornamental wood-ware.

BACK TO "NORMALCY"?

Now that the war is over it is quite natural for all of us to want to get back to "normalcy". In other words, we want to shed wartime restrictions quickly and return to the more comfortable modes of peacetime living.

The idea is all right, but we must not attempt the transition in one mad jump. Nor should we attempt to re-establish, in our individual lives, our old, indifferent pre-war ways. Now we face greater responsibilities than we ever had before Pearl Harbor. For one thing, our Nation carries the greatest debt which any nation ever had.

Unlike the period immediately following the last war, we can't afford to take a joy ride on the inflation balloon. This time it could be far more disastrous than it was 25 years ago. And it was bad enough then.

It all adds up to the fact that we must not hurry to cash in our War Bonds or withdraw funds from our bank savings accounts in order to go on a buying spree. We should resolve to hold our bonds to maturity, and to preserve our savings for only the most worthwhile purposes. Wild or careless spending would force prices swiftly upward in an inflationary spiral in spite of all government efforts to control them.

This dosen't mean that we should be deprived the pleasure of new products that sell within our incomes, but let us plan to do most of our buying out of current income and protect our war savings.

This will give us a greater individual security, will help protect the Nation's living standard, and hasten the return of a genuine "normalcy."

THE JAPS HAVEN'T CHANGED

It would be well for all of us to bear in mind that the act of surrendering to the Allies has not changed the character or the aims of the Japs in any way.

They are still the same sneaky, treacherous lot they were the morning they blasted Pearl Harbor without warning. And there can be no doubt that they hope to survive this present setback so that at some later date they can make another try at world conquest. Even now they are laying the groundwork for this effort.

An official of the Japan Broadcasting Corporation told the enemy troops, "We have lost but this is temporary." It isn't going to be so temporary as the Japs seem to believe, but it can be if we are not alert to further trickery and treachery on the part of our beaten foe.

Emperor Hirohito himself helped the propaganda program by declaring in his speech to the Japanese people that in starting the war in 1941 it "was far from our thought either to infringe upon the sovereignity of other nations or to embark upon territorial aggrandizement."

Of course, no one outside of Japan is going to swallow such a deliberate lie, but the Japs—like the Germans immediately after their defeat—are trying to convince the world that they were fighting only in self-defense. They know that if they can sell this idea to other nations it will help pave the way for the next war of aggression 20, 50 or 100 years from now.

It is up to the Allies, and America in particular, to see to it that the Land of the Rising Sun never again gets the chance to build itself up as a major military power.

Our efforts in this direction will be much more effective if we recognize that we are dealing with the same people whose code of ethics justified, and still justifies, treachery, torture and beastiality.

PLANNED INFLATION

No one wants to argue against labor getting a fair wage or a wage that will enable it to meet the increases in the cost of living. But labor is the biggest factor in the cost of living. Labor, and that means 99 per cent of the people, will pay either directly or indirectly, all wages received by labor.

CANNERY WORKERS!

Don't stay home

because the war is over

Millions of soldiers and sailors overseas can't get home just because the war ends. They'll be depending on canned food for months to come. Don't let them down. Stay on your cannery job.

We've got to keep sending canned food to our men overseas. The canneries are packing this food now, but they're short of help. Workers are even quitting because they think the need is over. This is no time to quit.

Work full time if possible. Or work part time or during your vacation. You will be paid well for this patriotic work. More important, you'll know that every can you pack means more food for you, more for our men overseas, more prosperity for your community.

Sign up now at the U. S. Employment Service or your nearest cannery—and stay on the job.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

For the subject "Mind," the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on Aug. 26 has the following Golden Text: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever; for wisdom and might are his: . . . he giveth wisdow unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding" (Dan. 2: 20, 21).

Excerpts from the sermon include this verse from the 147th Psalm: "Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." Also included is a correlative citation from the Christian Science textbook.

Some $300 worth of tools which had been stolen from parked cars in the Pollard road district were recovered with the arrest of three boys, two of them 11 and the third 13 years of age, as reported Monday by Sheriff Emig's office. The arrest and recovery of the tools was made by Deputy Sheriff Phil Cuffaro. The juvenile court will handle the cases of the youths.

S/Sgt. Eugene W. Green, member of a signal unit that took part in the Allies victorious western front drive, was a recent visitor at the XV Corps Rest Center. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Green, reside on Casey road.

JIMMY CARROLL, young tenor who headlines his own CBS show, "Jimmy Carroll Sings," proves that the place to find good voices is in radio's vocal groups. For five years Jimmy sang in the Ben Yost, Ray Block and Lyn Murray choirs; before that he'd been buying women's wear for a big chain of department stores, and singing for fun. Last fall, when James Melton was taken ill, Jimmy substituted, with only a half hour's rehearsal. That brought him to the attention of his present sponsors—and his radio program has led to his being pursued by the producers of two musical shows. His present program replaces the Lyn Murray show, whose vocal director he once worked for!

Chief Commissary Steward Arthur Glendon Knowles, Glen Knowles to class mates of C.U.H.S., 1936, and other friends, and his wife are visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knowles, W. Rincon avenue.

At the conclusion of his 30 day leave he reports back to Norfolk, to complete his six year enlistment which ends in December.

Early in the spring of this year the inspectors and officers of the 25 ships in the flotilla of which the L. S. T. 177 on which Knowles was steward, staged a contest to see which ship rated highest in the various departments, medical, commissary, etc.

The L.S.T. 177 had the most high ratings, and then the highest departments of the several ships were compared and the commissary department of the L.S.T. 177 won top rating, so that Glen was top enlisted man of the flotilla, which was a real honor.

His duties now are purchase of supplies, planning menus which must be confined to a certain cost per man, and general supervision of the commissary department of his ship.

His flotilla did a ferrying task in the Mediterranean and in the invasion of Italy and France.

Mail for Milly

By MARY EDNA RITCHIE
McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Features.

"ARE you in doubt about yourself or another? Send a dime with a specimen of handwriting. It may change your whole future. Write Cassandra."

Mrs. Norton looked from the newspaper clipping to the girl cleaning the living room window. "But I thought you liked housework, Milly."

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Norton, I do. It's easy here after the farm. Water from a tap and milk in a bottle and all that. But I sometimes wonder how it would be to work in a factory the way Pansy Evans from home does."

Mrs. Norton tucked a loose pin firmly into her carefully waved graying hair. "Have you sent the dime yet, Milly?"

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Norton. Last week. When do you think I'll hear?"

"Any time now, Milly." Mrs. Norton moved the dresden vase aimlessly on the mantel. "And now I'll finish up, Milly. You have some work in the laundry. Hand me the brush for the Venetian blind, please."

According to the paper "Domestic Problems," which Mrs. Norton was preparing for the next club meeting, practical cooperation strengthened the bond between mistress and maid. It was in the interest of this paper that she had been helping Milly for several days while drawing her out—the maid touch would point it up. And Milly, in a burst of confidence inspired by Mrs. Norton's sympathetic questions, had shown her the handwriting advertisement.

There, she had finished! And now she must type "Domestic Problems." The postman was coming up the walk. No mail except for Milly. New York postmark. It would be from the handwriting person, Cassandra. Milly was still downstairs in the laundry, so Mrs. Norton put the letter on the hall table.

She set up the card table and opened her portable typewriter. Only an hour before leaving for a downtown luncheon date. But Milly's letter bothered her. Suppose the analysis resulted in the girl's yielding to the urge to try something different? Mrs. Norton simply could not manage. Who would get dinner on the afternoons she attended meetings?

And then Mrs. Norton had an idea. She brought the letter in and sat down in front of the typewriter. The envelope flap was stuck just a tiny bit and only in one place. It wasn't like tampering with personal mail. Mrs. Norton would never think of doing anything so terrible as that. Never!

She scanned the single sheet. The heading was printed, of course. Well, she'd have to type it, but Milly would think that was the way it should be.

Two short paragraphs. The first would do. Mrs. Norton hammered it out and then went on—

The letter "d" reveals that you are somewhat inclined to be unappreciative of the people about you. The letters "u", "v" and "w" denote the truly domestic type of person who is at her best when catering to the comfort of others in the home. Persons of this type rarely, make good out in the world and should avoid club work, office positions and factory jobs.

There, it was done! Sealing the envelope, Mrs. Norton put it back on the hall table. Almost time for her to go. She called down to Milly that there was mail for her, and to remember about putting the roast in the oven at four-thirty.

It was almost five o'clock when Mrs. Norton found herself on the way home. Milly really had a good place. No going out in all weathers as in factory work. And one could never be sure about boarding houses either. Then, Mrs. Norton was not like some mistresses. She'd never put paper doilies under the rugs to find out if the maid vacuumed them properly, or stuff cleansing tissues at the foot of the bed to trap her in careless bedmaking. Mean tricks, those.

Mrs. Norton opened the door of her house. "Oh, Mrs. Norton, I'm glad you've come. I didn't want just to leave a note." There was Milly, dressed for the street, coming downstairs with a suitcase.

"Why, Milly, what in the world is wrong?"

"It's like this, Mrs. Norton." The words tumbled out. "Pansy Evans phoned me that I can get in where she works. Same shift, too. But I'll have to start right away. And I can board where she does."

Mrs. Norton's world was coming to pieces. "But, Milly, I thought you liked it here."

"Yes, Mrs. Norton, but I stayed on partly because I didn't know if you could manage alone. But you've been doing fine at the work since last week. And this makes me feel different about you." Milly took the letter from her handbag.

Mrs. Norton glanced over it. How well she knew every word! "Why, Milly, don't you think you have things mixed? It seems from this that you should be staying."

Milly picked up the suitcase. "You see what it says about being at home. That's what I meant."

"Me? Why, it's you, Milly. It was your handwriting."

"Oh, no, Mrs. Norton. That's what I'm trying to explain. It was yours I sent."

Your Refrigerator is a Wartime Veteran ....and still going STRONG!

What a good, old, dependable trooper your mechanical refrigerator has been during these wartime years! It has done a good job for you. It has taken care of several tons of food for you and your family. It has saved you many gallons of gasoline by making frequent shopping trips unnecessary. And it has saved you ration points by keeping food left-overs good for another day and another meal.

If your refrigerator came to work for you before the war (and most home refrigerators are five years old or more) it has been refrigerating food and freezing ice cubes and desserts continuously for tens of thousands of service hours. Your refrigerator really deserves some kind of a wartime award doesn't it?

Why not do this? Keep your refrigerator cleaned up, especially the mechanism. Keep it dust free. Defrost regularly. Make it last through until the day comes when you can buy your new refrigerator and its post-war companion—the Home Freezer.
